Introduction

The records in this series fit in one box and consist of case files from 1830 through the 1840s. One file contains a habeas corpus petition from 1850. Undoubtedly other files exist and will be added to this series as they are found.

The records include petitions for habeas corpus, inquests, and, mostly, case files from criminal prosecutions of persons the grand jury thought broke a state law. These case files typically consist of the indictment, a summons for the defendant, and subpoenas for witnesses. Often the verdict is written on the back of the indictment. In some cases, other documents have been added to the files. Some, but only a few, include verbatim transcripts of testimony.

Most records are from Warren County's circuit court, but some come from the criminal court. Prior to inventory, these files were in the case of the circuit clerk. In 1939, they, along with many similar records, did not make the move from the Old Warren County Court House to the new court house across the street. The records remained in the Old Court House attic and in metal drawers on the main floor until the summer of 1993 when Christopher Waldrep arranged to temporarily remove them to Eastern Illinois University for cleaning and arrangement. Clerks had arranged the papers in folded bundles but few of these bundles remained intact by 1993. The folds made many of the very brittle papers extremely fragile. Waldrep and students from Eastern's historical administration program removed rusting pins and metal clasps from the papers and cleaned them before organizing them in acid-free folders and boxes.

The files are chronologically arranged by date of indictment. Thus, all the defendants indicted by the April 1845 grand jury are together.

The index lists only defendants, victims, and grand jury witnesses in criminal and circuit court. Thus, many jurors and individuals involved in justice of the peace cases and habeas corpus petitions are not indexed. The index gives the date of indictment for the case involving the person named. "Charles H. Abbott, April 1849" means the researcher should search folders 44, 45 and 46 for Abbott.
